Minister Mendonen on Malle's Movements and on the General Shuntton in Breatl-The Outbreak in Para Suppressed-The Explosion on Board the Cruiser America Belleved to Mave Been Caused by an Agent of Mello Who Shipped as a Sation -St Will Detain the Vessel Pourteen Days

WARRINGTON, Dec. 7 .- This afternoon the following cable despatch, dated to-day, was received by Secretary Herbert from Capt. Picking commanding the United States naval forces in Rio ne Javaino, Ded. 7.—Situation unchanged stace departure of Aquidaban. Firing between ferts and be-tween in-turgent vessels and suns on Nictheroy side continues daily. Insurgents forced to another further Commodore Stanton was at the Navy Department again to-day. He says the quarantine station of libs Grande, where Admiral Mello has arrived with the Aquidaban, is forty miles to the west and south of Rio. The despatch of Minister Thompson to Secretary Gresham, reporting Mello's arrival there, also said that Mello had sacked the quarantine station, after which he had sailed away in a southerly direction. Mello's departure for the south is believed here to be a mere blind to his real purpose of preceding to the open ocean north of Rio te intercept and give battle to the Nictheroy.

now nearing that port. Senhor Mendonga, the Brazilian Minister, discussing the meaning of the return of Admiral Melio to the mouth of the Bay of Rio. with a reporter to-day, said:

"I suppose he got tired of waiting for the America and Nictheror outside, and ran in to get something to eat. The diplomat, whose iews upon the Brazilian situation were given o the public the other day, was sure Admiral Mello had gone on a cruise to Bahia and Pernambuco to inspire by his presence a public anifestation in those communities in favor of the restoration of the monarchy. That of the restoration of the monarchy. That year a natural supposition. Bahia was the scene of the earliest settlement in Brazil, whence many of the discoverers who penetrated the interior started on their journeys, and in the colonial days the principal city of the country. Here the Portuguese element of the population is uncommonly large, and the characteristic conservation of the people would naturally make the monarchial sentiment more prominent than sleewhere. In addition to this, Bahia is Mello's own State, and you may be sure that if there monarchial sentiment more prominent than elsewhere. In addition to this, Bahia is Mello's own State, and you may be sure that if there were any substantial signs of encouragement for him he would be there with the Aquidaban. That he has not even attempted to visit the place satisfies me, and it oughts to satisfy any intelligent observer, that the alleged predeminance of monarchical sentiment in the northern part of Brazil does not exist, at least to anything like the extent reported. I admit that there are elements of the population of Brazil which favor the restoration of the empire, but they are not nearly so numerous, nor important, as has been represented. For instance, José Genzales da Silva, who was the Governor of Bahia at the time the republic was declared, is a firm friend of the new condition of things, and devoted to the interests of the republic."

What about the disturbances reported in Para and Fernambuco." was asked the Minister.

"What about the disturbances reported in Para and Fernambuco?" was asked the Minister.

"I have been informed that there was a riot or a disorderly outbreak in Para, which the local police failed or refused to suppress. Hecause of this laxity the force has been dispanded, and the national troops in the province or State are now the guardians of peace in the place. At Fernambuco there was no disturbance, so far as I know. José Marlano, with whom Meilo was in correspondence, was arrested by the Governor, Dr. Barbosa de Jima, upon information from the authorities at life that he might endeavor to make trouble if permitted to remain at liberty. His correspondence with Meilo, or portions of it, were secured by the Federal officials, and it was upon it at that they acted."

Benher Men longa, commenting further upon the review of the situation in Brazil, to which he had previously referred, said: "As to the column of revolutionists reported to be approaching Sac Faulo, I am inclined to the belief that it will be found to be another case of three black crows. It was first stated to number 5,000 men; later came a correction that it should have been 3,000, and when the facts come to be known I confidently expect that number to wants. If Brazil is to be separated have no doubt that any one of them will be able to ma ntain itself against foes from without and rej ress the revolutions within."

The Brazillan Legation here fears that the accident to the cruiser America is serious, and that she will be greatly delayed in reaching some port in northern Brazil. Minister Mendona has I accived information that the accident to the cruiser America is serious, and that and rej ress the revolutions within."

The Brazillan Legation here fears that the accident to the work of some missal, yof Meilo, amuggled on the vessel and brilled to week the ship if possible. The latter theory he believes most plausible, and if it turns out to be true, the Minister says he cnows who are the instigators in this country. The message which came to him possibly som is liked, and that her commander. Capt. Crossman, was among the injured. The cruiser, the kinister believes, is at Martinique, and will ren ain there until her engines are repaired and the vessel is a good fighting condition again. The Nictherry continued on her way, and will reach some port in northern Brazilian covernment in the agent of the Brazilian Government in New York to secure, if possible, all details of the accident and the extent of the damage. The Minister expects to hear full particulars to morrow, if the cruiser is within reach of telegraph.

The Minister expects to hear full particulars to morrow, it the cruiser is within reach of belegraph.

The Pirater, which salled to-day from New York, has orders to join the America and accompany her to Brazil. The Nietheroy will wait the arrival of the two vessels. Pelxoto's paval display will receive a decided addition by one of the largest and most powerful torpede boats built. She is the Aurora, was constructed in England, and is now on her way to Brazil under the British flag, but on reaching some port north of Rie she is to be turned over to the Government. This vessel is expected by the Legation to be a most effective weapon in atracking Mello. She is due in Brazil now, and, with the Nictheror, will wait until the America and her consort arrive.

It is believed at the Legation that Mello's plan is to wait at this Grande, a little hamlet south of the entrance of the harbor of Rio, until a few days before the Brazilian fleet will reach flie, then to proceed to the north to interest it before it can get in the harbor. The Minister has great confidence in the ability of the cruisers to escape Mello and reach Rio while he is cruising outside. The mouth of the heator is very wide, and it would be an easy lask for the fleet to slip in without Mello knowing it. When it comes to a running fire, the Minister asserts that Mello's flagship, Aquidaban, would be no match for the awift improvised man-ot-war ship, and that it would be an easy thing for them to get beyond the reach of Mello's teaching the fire them to get beyond the reach of Mello's teaching the fire them to get beyond the reach of Mello's teaching to them.

The British steamship J. W. Taylor, which arrived yesterday from Santos, reports that one of Feixolo's gunboats was sunk in the harbor of Santos prior to Nov. 11. An engineer on the gunboat, supposed to be in favor of the revolutionists, left the sea valve open. He disappeared, and, as he did not return, it was surmised that he left the valve open intentionally. The boat was raised a few days later.

Not Many Women Apply to Dr. Parkhurst. Although Dr. Parkhurst has extended an invitation to the abandoned women who were turned into the streets by the closing of their abodes to call at his home and receive shelter and means to live few took advantage of his offer yesterday. "What means is the society going to take to provide for these women!?"

I cannot say anything about that at present. In the mean, while I have the use of half a dozen private missions and institutions which will take care of them."

Capt. Schmittherser detailed ten policemen to patrol the Tenderich in plain clothes last plash and arrest all the women whom they found soliciting in the street. The mea arrested half a dozen who had been arrested for similar offences before.

DID HE CUT OFF HER BACK HAIRS Jersey City Police Don't Believe Mrs. de Bonneville's Stories of Mr. Carl.

Mrs. Frederick de Bonneville, who, with her husband, recently moved into an apartment house owned by a Mrs. O'Connor at 9 Oxford street, Jersey City, called on Police Captain McKaig of the Fourth precinct yearerday to ask him for protection. Mrs. de Bonneville engaged the rooms in Mrs. O'Connor's house on Nov. 10.

She paid two months' rent in advance, and arranged to move in on Nov. 12. She says that after engaging the rooms a man accosted her, and warned her not to go to that house as Mrs. O'Connor was a bad woman The man said his name was John Carl. Mrs. de Bonneville threatened to have the man arrested if he did not go away.

She did not see him again until Wednesday morning. While she was returning from a visit to her sister-in-law. Mrs. Mason who

Mrs. de Bonneville was alarmed, but she stopped long enough to hear the man say:

"I see you still live with that woman. When you go home you will find her and your husband both dead with bullets through them. As soon as I can I will remove the bodies to Jay Gould's vault. I get a commission from him for every body I send there. I'll burn your house down."

After saying all this the man made a pass with his right hand at the back of Mrs. de lionneville's head, and when she went home and took off her bonnet all her back hair fell on the floor. She thinks the man must have cut it with a razor. On Wednesday night a fire broke out in the house, and Mr. de Bonneville found that it had been started with some excelsior under the stairway.

Capt. McKaig had the story investigated, and came to the conclusion that Mrs. de Bonneville is sorry she moved into the house and wants to get back the rent she paid in advance.

MRS. LAKELAND'S DEATH. The Inquest Palls to Substantiate Som Sensational Stories,

Coroner Kene of Brooklyn held an inquest last night in the case of Margaret Lakeland the wife of Alf Lakeland, the horseman, who died recently at 701 Douglass street, under what were considered suspicious circum stances. Mrs. Lakeland had been separated from her husband for three or four years, and for some time before her death lived in a nicely furnished flat in Sixth avenue.

After her death there were reports about her alleged relations with a prominent official in Gravesend, and her father, Michael Conion, was quoted as saying that he would not attend his daughter's funeral, fearing that he might be driven to take summary vengeance on the official. Mr. Conion testified last night that he had never made such statements. All he knew was that his daughter was sick one week and dead the next.

The testimony failed to show the commission of any criminal act, and the jury found that death resulted from septic peritonitis. from her husband for three or four years, and

There was an alarm of fire at Primary School 35, at Fifty-first street and First avenue, shortly before noon yesterday. Janiter Carney noticed some smake, and promptly told Mrs. Allen, the principal. Mrs. Allen ordered that four gongs be sounded, which is the rapid dismissal signal. In five minutes all the children were marching down stairs to the street. Most of them thought they were going through the usual fire drill until some one in the street shouled "Fire!" when there was a slight rush on one of the stairways.

Then the engines came, and the 260 pupils stood around in the streets and got in the way. The fire was found to be in a smouldering rubbish heap in the backyard.

A New Gold Town in Colorado Takes the Name of a Silver Senator from Idaho. WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.-Senator Dubola, the oung Senator from Idaho who helped to lead the fight against silver repeal in the Senate last summer, is still regarded as a hero among the silverites in the West. To-day he received a formal announcement that a new town in Colorado, near Gunison, has been regularly christened "Dubols." A short time ago a rich vein of gold was struck at that point, and immediately a

A further honor has been conferred upon Senator Dubois by his Republican associates in the Senate by appointing him secretary of a select committee to take charge of all political issues that may be made in the Senate during the present Congress. It is said that the sliver Republicans in the Senate have no intention of urging any further legislation in behalf of the white metal this session. At the caucus of Republicine Senators a few days ago absolute harmony prevailed, and there were no traces of the wounds supposed to have been inflicted during the recent silver fight. The Republicans have bended together to fight their common enemy, the Democrate, and they propose, with the cooperation of the Republicans in the House, to present a united front against every political measure that may be brought forward by the Democrats.

FINE CLOTHES ON EXHIBITION. Carments from the World's Fatr Shows by the Merchant Tailors' Society. If the gilded youth of this city had been at 241 Fifth avenue last night when the Merchant Tailors' Society exhibited garments shown at the World's Fair, they might have learned a good deal about clothes. There were long-tailed coats and short-tailed coats; coats that curved one way, coats that curved coats that curved one way, coats that curved the other way, and coats that curved both ways; naddock coats and smoking jackets, trousers and waistecats of all varieties, and one big coaching garment of which the ten buttons were worth $70.

"Unfortunately the chappies went there to see the show. The tailors themselves examined one another's work and criticised and suggested. Many of the garments shown were made for well-known customers, and if some of these gentlemen could have heard the remarks of rival tailors, perhaps they would think twice in the future tefore donning their new coats with the satisfactory feeling that all was just as it should be.

The society, before the exhibit broke up, elected delegates to a convention of merchant tailors to be held in Pittsburgh on Feb. 6, 7, and 8.

A Cut in Miners' Wages,

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 7. - Last winter the Hocking Valley Trust advanced the price of coal 15 cents a ton at wholesale. Members of the trust now complain that they are being undersold by the Pennsylvania operators, who have shipped 10,000 tons to Cleveland alone the past month.

The operators, therefore, decided to make a cut of 10 cents a ton in wages. The Executive Board of the National Miners' Association has taken the matter in hand, and efforts have been made to induce the miners of Fernsylvania to strike for the same wages as their Ohio brethren. An advance of 45 cents a ton would put them on the same footing.

A SCHIEREN MAYORALTY.

BROOKLYN'S NEW HEAD BOUND TO HAVE HIS OWN WAY.

Min Paiure Appointments Likely to Be an Blatauteful to Republicana as Those Al-ready Made, While Not Me Piensing to Mugwumps-A Boody Man to Marca Job, As Mayor elect of Brooklyn for the past nouth, Mr. Charles A. Schleren has probably had the most trying experience of his life. In the task of constructing his Cabinet he has been overwhelmed with the combined advice of rival Republican statesmen, Mugwumps, anti-Snappers, Prohibitionists, and even that of the patriotic ladies of the Women's Health Protective Association, who organized a cam-palgn elub in his support.

The appointments which he has so far announced have not proved satisfying to the Republican managers, while, without question, they have pleased the Mugwumps. While Mr. Schieren has consulted from day to day with the party leaders, and patiently listened to what they had to say, it is quite clear from the action he has already taken that he is go ing to construct his Cabinet throughout in strict accordance with his own ideas.

Brooklyn, in fact, for the next two years is going to have a Charles A. Schieren adminis-tration, regardless of what effect it is going to have on the fortunes of the Republican organization. Mr. Schieren has already announced these appointments:

Corporation Counsel-Albert G. McDonald. Commissioner of City Works-A. T. White. Commissioners of Excise-Ex-Justice Chas

Nacher and George B. Forrester.

He has also announced that all his other appointments will be in keeping with these. It is safe to assume that if a caucus of the the men whom Mr. Schieren should select as his Cabinet advisers, not one of the above would have been seriously thought of. Mr. White, who is to be at the head of the City Works Department and dispense its immense patronage for the next two years, has been outside the Republican breastworks since his defection in the Blaine campaign. Mr. McDonald, who is to get the $10,000 a-

Mr. McPonald, who is to get the $10,000-ayear Corporation Counselship, it is understood, is a faithful liepublican, but for several years has not been active in politics.
The selection of ex-Justice Nacher and Mr.
Forrester as Exclas Commissioners was equally disappointing to the politicians. The former is without any personal following in his party, and Mr. Forrester, although an active member of the organization, holds such strong temperance views that it has long been thought that his proper place was with the Prohibitionists, Ex-Justice Nacher has not so fat accepted the appointment, but Mr. Schieren expects that he will do so.
The opposition to Mr. Forrester from a strong liepublican element is so pronounced that he may conclude not to accept the place.

The opposition to Mr. Forrester from a strong Republican element is so pronounced that he may conclude not to accept the place. The Fren Press, the German Republican organ, has read the riot act thus to Mr. Schieren over the selection of Mr. Forrester:
White Mr. Forrester is a man of high character, he is an acknowledged temperance man and Probletionist. If Mr. Schieren carries out his intention to appoint Mr. Forrester then he starts out on his career with a broken promise. If he should misst upon the appointment of Mr. Forrester is will really seem as though he had been paying a bunco game with us.

The Brookiya Times, the mouthplece of the true-blue Republicans, said yesterday:
The ancient adage concerning the complications said to have acted on the advice of the veteran Republican managers.

To a close personal friend Mr. Schieren is reported to have said that he fully realized the difficulties which surrounded him, but that he would turn neither to the right or the left in the policy he had mapped out for himself. He was determined to give Brooklyn as thorough a business administration as he possibly could during the next two years, and not to let his mind dwell on the thought of a second term. Even the augrestion of a nomination for the Governorship, which some of his admirers made, would not swerve him from his purpose of keeping the political bosses at arm's length.

It is said that Mr. Schieren will even go so so far in antagonizing the Republican machine and in running the risk of losing the good will of the Mugwumps by appointing John H. Scheidt to a place in his Cahinet. The objection to Mr. Scheidt is that he is not only a machine Democrat, but a Boody Democrat.
Either the Registrar of Arrearship or the Tax Collectorship, however, it is said, is sure to fall into Mr. Scheidt's lap.

The Republican primaries on Dec. 10 are looked forward to with much interest. They are to be fought out by the Willis and Worth factions without any regard to the policy of Mr. Schieren. The result will determine the control of the organization for the coming year.

The war between Naval Officer Willis and ex-Senator Worth is as a bitter as ever. The hoatilities will not only be carried on at the primaries, but in the organization of the new

HENRY MURKAY A WIGWAM RECRUIT. Revival of the Report that He Will Be Leader in the Eighteenth.

When Henry Murray falled to name anti-Tammany candidates in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Assembly districts in the last campaign it was whispered that Murray and his friends would join the wigwam.

I Bemand to Be Put Ga the Rolls, but I Won't Support the Local Ticket,"

There was a conference of the officers of the Good Government Club branches of the City Club at the City Club house, 677 Fifth avenue, last evening. Preliminary steps were taken for the organization of Good Government clubs in every Assembly district, and for the federation of those clubs when organized. It was stated that the federation was not to be confounded with any political organization: that the clubs deprecated any political erganization at this time. A resolution was passed asking every crizen of either political party who may from this enently the political party who may from this enently with the party to demand at the time of enroll with his party to demand at the time of enrollment that he be permitted to exercise absolute independence of party lines in municipal elections, and to demand that the exercise of such independence shall not debar him from voting at party primaries. for the organization of Good Government clubs

LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEES. The Republican Bosses Announce Several Lists-A Cloture Rule in the Senate. Those Republicans at the Fifth Avenue Hotel are still flapping their wings and saying they did it. As the day approaches for them to take charge at Albany the country Republicans are flocking in town to receive their orders. In the hotel gathering last night were ex-senator Platt, ex-Senator Warner Miller, Congressman James J. Belden, Senator Saxton of Wayne, Senator O'Connor of Broome, Senator Stapleton of Madison, Senator Kilburn of Franklin, Senator Mullin of Oswego, Senator Childs of Queens, and Sonator Owens of Kings: Assemblymen George II. Malby of St. Lawrence and Lambert Kern of Madison, and James R. Sheffield of the Eleventh district: Uncle George West of Ballston, ex-Assemblyman W. C. Stevens of Franklin, John Dwight of Dryden, ex-Collector Hendricks, ex-Congress-man Henry G. Burleigh of Whitehall, and scores of others. There wasn't a man in the group who hadn't an axe to grind or a little tin anchor to windward. Not one of the Senators or Assemblymen would admit that they were under orders. They were all to do just as they pleased about Chairmanships and everything else, and then they had talks with ex-Senator Platt and Mr. Miller, and somehow after these talks it was announced that the Committee on Rules of the Senate would be Senators Saxton, O'Connor, announced that the Committee on Rules of the Senate would be Senators Saxton, O'Connor, and Cantor.

Mr. Saxton, who is to be Fresident protem of the Senate, will not be made Chairman of any other committee, and he is expected to get up some measure that will approach cloture in order to force party bills.

The Chairmanship of the Senate Committee on Cities has been given by the hosses to Mr. Parsons. The bosses have directed that Henry Coggeshall small be Chairman of the Committee on Railroads, and teorge A. Owens of Rings, the Lattender who defeated Senator Metarren by mistake, has been clevated by the bosses to be Chairman of the Committee on Commerce and Navigation. This is a pretty snuc Chairmanship for a new Senator. The bosses have made up the Assembly Committee on Rules as follows. Messrs, Malby, Ainsworth. Fish, Keck, Suizer, and Hennessy. Mr. Malby, of course, is to be Speaker, but nobody on this bemisphere seems to know who is to be Clerk. That fight is getting rather bitter. The Buffalonians insist on the selection of Charles E. Orr. The friends of Henry I. Stoddard and W. J. Youngs, however, are still positive that they will land their men. The country Republicans bave also come to town to get their orders on the bills that are to be introduced at Albany this winter. For the last menth the Republicans baves have been busy night and day getting up all sorts of bills calculated to raise a storm at Albany. The Republicans declare unreservedly that these bills are for the purpose of putting Gov. Flower in a hole." For instance, there are bills to rescind the legislation which changed the charters of certain cities and there are other hills looking to a change in the ballot reform law, and Heaven alone knows what.

A Committee of Seventeen to Organise It to Opposition to Tammany Hall. Ex-Sheriff James O'Brien and ex-Senator Francis Bixby were the principal figures in a meeting of 145 men who gathered in the assembly room of the St. Cloud Hotel last night to make arrangements for the organization of a new local Democracy.

The plan of reorganization, the party platform, and its name are contained in the folform, and its name are contained in the following resolution presented by ex-Senator Bixby, which was ununimously adopted:

Reserve, That the Chairman be requested to appoint a provisional committee to represent this meeting, in the formation of a Democratic examination in the city of New York, which shall be known as the "National Democratic Party." That it is the sense of this meeting that such committee, when appointed, shall, as soon as practicable select for representative Democrats in each Assembly district, who shall be authorized to saroll such voters in their respective district, as are willing to add in the overthrew of Tammany Hall, and in securing an honest upright and intelligent administration of our numerical Government.

sembly district organizations perfected, two members from each election district shall be selected as a mem-bers of deneral Committee, who will meet for organ-ization at a time and place to be hereafter designated by the Chairman of this meeting. by the Charman of this meeting.

The committee appointed is ex-Senator George F. Langbein, Louis Cohen, John Graham Hyatt, J. W. Cryan, John C. Bruen, James A. Moorehead, Andrew J. Carson, Herman H. B. Klinker, Vernon Seaman, Dr. William A. Fanning, Major M. C. Dougherty, Dr. J. W. Moore, Milton C. Gray, George Churchill, Timothy Donovan, Andrew Beiser, and George Goodward.

Goodward.

Another committee of five was appointed to secure permanent headquartera.

Both Mr. Bixby and Mr. O'Brien admitted that the National Democratic party will unite with Republicans or any body of citizens for the one common object of defeating Tammany Hall.

Mr. Colwell, the old-line Democrats say, is one of the most notorious Republicans in Dutchess county, and for years has been the leading Republican worker in his ward. At the last Presidential election Colwell was a Republican United States Marshal at the Seventh ward noils in this city.

The Democratis hereabouts have always regarded Colwell as one of the most daring and desperate ward workers in the Republican party in this section. It is needless to say, then, that the Democrats, while feeling badly over such an appointment, cannot but settle back and laugh at it.

While it must have the Democratic party, or some parts of it at least, there are those who feel that it ought to make the regular Democratic organization fighting mad, and therefore stronger than ever.

The Robinstein Concert, The first Rubinstein concert of this season took place last evening in Madison Square Garden Concert Hall. This club of ladies, it is well known, is under the leadership of Mr. William R. Chapman, who is ably assisted in many business matters with many tactful ways by Mrs. Chapman. As is the case with the Apollo Club-men's volces under the same conductor-the working part of the entertainment is as much entertained by their concerts as those who listent and certainly applause from the audience is always generous, and cheerfulness is the in-variable atmosphere at every performance. The club is now full in numbers, of excellent size for the singing of such compositions as are done by it. In beauty and smoothness of tone it has fallen off somewhat from former

This is especially noticeable in forte or forfissimo passages. They certainly can make good piano effects, which shows that loud phrases might be improved in tone if each individual volce used less energy and made less effort. Selections for the club were not yesterday of such conspicuous charm or worth as has some times been the lot of their programmes. By far the most artistic and enjoyable music of the evening was drawn from his violin by the skilful bow of Mr. Hubert Arnold, who played a number of attractive morceaux with a repose and sweetness most rare and delightful. His tone is in the highest degree sympathetic, and of a crystalline purity which is delicious to the car. piano effects, which shows that loud phrases

Among other things Mr Arnold played Raff's celebrated "Cavatian." This was set down upon the programme as an obligato to a song.

Ave Maria, sung by Mr. Orme Darvall.

This is surely putting the cart before the horse, as the homely old adage has it, for the volce made rather an obligato to Raff's Cavatina, and fortunately did not disturb greatly the fine effect of this favorite and perennial composition. The name of the distorter was not given.
